

Dear Veteran,

I'm thankful for you to fight for our country. My class made a wreath for all the soldiers who got killed in the war. We sang a song called, "What a Wonderful World," by Louis Armstrong for Remembrance Day.

We read a book called, "A Poppy is to Remember." By Heather Patterson and learned that a poppy is to remember all the soldiers who died in war. Was it scary to be in the Great War? How old were you when the war ended?

Also we learned how scary it would be to fight in war. We celebrated Remembrance Day on Thursday November 7th. At the Remembrance Day ceremony a veteran played a bagpipe. The entire school made wreaths and we put them on a cross. We learned that John McCrae wrote the poem, "In Flanders Fields," after his friend got killed in war.

Thank you for keeping our country safe and free.

Yours Truly,

Johnny
